Qualifications of Shooting Sports Merit Badge Counselors – Less than 20 % of NCAC merit badge counselors are certified to be operating ranges with the scouts. We have developed a package to notify merit badge counselors of the safety and certification requirements for BSA shooting sports activities. To help in correcting this issue we will need to provide more NRA instructor courses. The Shooting Sports Committee unanimously agreed that we ask the Advancement Committee to require NRA and USAA certification for all applicable merit badge counselors. The shooting sport committee directed John Wolfgang to contact the NCAC Advancement Committee Chairman with a request to require shooting sports merit badge Counselors to meet the minimum BSA requirements for shooting sports instruction, i.e. that all archery merit badge counselors be USAA Level I instructor, rifle merit badge counselors hold a current NRA Rifle Instructor certificate and Shotgun merit badge counselors hold a current NRA Shotgun Instructor certificate
