Take a hike at Philmont Scout Ranch, and discover that you're even tougher than you think.

After Philmont's 2018 treks were canceled because of fires in the backcountry, the home of the original mountaintop Scouting experience will be back and better than ever in 2019, 2020 and beyond.

The base is best known for seven- and 12-day treks that challenge participants mentally and physically. Treks include stops at several of Philmont's staffed backcountry camps, where staffers, many dressed in character, offer experiences participants will remember all their lives.
